Mon visage

A short song-to-play invitation for toddlers and preschoolers. Adult guidance in English; child prompts in French.

---

1. I notice | Look and listen

Play Voici mon visage once. Model pointing to your own face. A child may watch, point or join in without speaking.

2. I recognize | Choose a picture

Start with two cut-out cards: les yeux and le nez. Say “Montre le nez.” Wait, then show the answer gently if needed. Add la bouche when ready.

3. I understand | Connect to myself

Use a child-safe mirror. Say “Voici mon nez.” Point to your own nose, then invite “Et toi ?” Children point to their own face, not someone else’s.

4. I respond | Build a face

Adult: print page 2 at 100%. Cut out its three cards; keep the face above them. Offer one at a time. Say “Les yeux. Où vont les yeux ?” Let the child choose and place it on page 2.

5. I use it | Return during the day

At handwashing or mirror time, invite “Montre ta bouche.” Accept a look or gesture. Model the word; repetition is optional.

You need: the song, the activity sheet on page 2, a child-safe mirror and adult scissors. Start with 5-8 minutes; stop sooner when interest fades.

A little French at home

Return to one familiar word at a time. Two or three playful minutes are enough.

Coucou !

Hide your own face with your hands. Open them and say “Coucou ! Voici mon visage.” Let your child choose whether to copy.

Mirror moment

Say “Voici mon nez.” Then invite “Montre ton nez.” Next time, try les yeux or la bouche. Point near the eyes; do not touch the eyeballs.

Look, choose, place

Offer two pieces from page 2. Ask “Où est la bouche ?” Your child may look, reach or point. Place the piece together on the face.

A small observation

Notice what happens over several tries: Does the child look towards the picture? Choose from two? Point to their own face? Use a word spontaneously? These are observations, not a test.
